

The role of the University
PR & Communication Officer

KING'S College
LONDON

A network of communication specialists

Communications Network

“To utilise our collective knowledge, experience and professional expertise to deliver high quality communications, positioning King’s as a leading university, driving change, and demonstrating the impact of our contribution as a supportive network with shared goals.”