

9th UNICA Scholarly Communication Seminar

14 - 15 October 2019
Vilnius University, Lithuania

Academic Libraries & Open Science: how to meet the challenges?

MEET YOUR PEERS IN AN INTERNATIONAL CONTEXT!

Academic libraries are currently going through a culture change as they take on their new role of enablers of Open Science. But how well are they prepared for this major change of practices in the way scientific results are shared throughout the research cycle? The 9th UNICA Scholarly Communication Seminar will address the challenges and opportunities for academic libraries in encouraging and achieving this necessary culture change.

Questions addressed

- How do universities build an Open Science strategy?
- How are libraries taking the lead in research data management?
- How do different actors (researcher, librarian, publisher etc.) deal with the impact powered by Open Science?
- How to get the balance right between publisher and university library?

Objectives

- Share experiences on the role of libraries in developing an Open Science culture;
- Reflect on the challenges and opportunities of Open Science for strategy building in universities;
- Learn about the role of libraries in data management;
- Discuss the relation between libraries and university presses.
